Diogo Pimentão (Lisbon, 1973) lives and works in London. He studied at Ar.Co. in Lisbon, the Sculpture Seminar in Gotland, and the International Sculpture Center in Pêro Pinheiro, Sintra. The practice of drawing, especially using graphite, is the central axis of his work. He conceives it as a form of contact between a material and a support through a repetitive gesture, sometimes blind or procedural, but he also frequently employs cement, often in tension with paper. His research combines randomness with a rigorous technique, through traces and marks, lines, or strokes. The sheet can be folded, raised in space, or placed on the floor.
